

Year 3 went to el Parque Metropolitano in Quito this week on Tuesday 20th June. Last term, the children had been learning about the famous photographer Ansel Adams who took many beautiful black and white photographs of national parks in the USA. Our class visit linked to the work Adams produced as the children took photographs themselves of the amazing views, trees and other plants in the park. At one point during the trip, a child from 3A announced that 'we are all mini Ansel Adams now'. The children also got the opportunity to observe and take photographs of llamas and explore a labyrinth. We were blessed with beautiful weather and the children enjoyed their picnic and exploring the different parts of park.
